Sounds of a Better World – Small Voices Calling

ABOUT THE COMPOSER

James Papoulis's work focuses on combining the music of his roots – classical and jazz – with the rhythms and influence of worldbeat, folk, and multi-ethnic sounds. His compositions for choirs, orchestras, string quartets, and chamber ensembles have been performed worldwide, including London's Royal Albert Hall with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and a 300-member children's choir, and at the Great Wall of China with a 500 member children's choir. He recently collaborated with Geoffrey Holder to re-create the Alvin Ailey Dance Company's signature piece, The Prodigal Son, and a 45 minute orchestral/tribal suite for the Dance Theatre of Harlem.

He enthusiastically participates in the Arts in the Schools program, introducing various forms of music to students, and writes and produces songs with them. The lyrics that the children write, reflecting their thoughts and hopes, have been a great source of inspiration to him.

PROJECT NOTES from the composer

Give Us Hope is from the project SOUNDS OF A BETTER WORLD = small voices calling, a series of songs focusing on children, which examines their world and how small steps can be made to improve it. When this journey began for me almost five years ago, I was very disturbed to learn of various incidents around the world where children were subjected to adverse conditions. I began to wonder how they could possibly develop into caring, responsible adults, with such hardship defining their childhood. As I read more and explored our attitudes as a society toward children, I began to feel that we (as Dr. Martin Luther King said) "...must ask ourselves how responsible we are for the well-being of others..." Do we have the courage to feel responsible? What ideals do we strive for? How can we find innovative ways in which the personal and social problems of childhood can be overcome? Can music be utilized as a potential bridge to reach out and address these issues?

What I have come to understand is that we must send the best part of ourselves into the future through our children. If we want society to evolve, we need to understand the importance of childhood, and how vital our role should be in doing whatever we can to nurture every child. We should all be aware of our powerful influence on their minds. Through this incredible journey that Sounds of a Better World has taken me on, I hope to have somehow addressed these issues and to have embraced the joy that children can bring to this world.

Optional spoken introduction:

Adult: Of all the feelings that a young person can have, there is one that makes life seem desolate... empty...
And sometimes not even worth living... When it is not there: "Hope"
Hope for the future... Hope to be loved... Hope to be heard...
When children are without hope, they are robbed of one of the most defining parts of their childhood...
We must never underestimate the power of giving hope to a child.

Child: The whispers of my heart speak so softly...
Are they really there if no one hears them?...
(piano begins introduction)
My voice is so small, and so soft... can you hear me?
Give us hope, and we'll show you the way.

$\text{♩} = 110$, with a joyous feeling throughout

The musical score is written for Piano and Three-Part Treble Voices. The Piano part begins with a series of chords and arpeggios, marked with dynamics mp and p. The Treble I, II, and III parts enter with a melody marked mp with bounce. The lyrics "Lis-ten to the sound of my voice." are written under the Treble parts. The Piano part continues with a melody marked p and mp. The score includes a repeat sign at the end of the Treble parts and a repeat sign at the end of the Piano part.
